Dear Wilma:

Probably the most serious action that will be taken by any City Council that we have had in the last 30 years will take place Monday, October 10. At that time most of the C-1 property owners will have their zoning down-graded, and the select few property owners on Ocean Avenue for nearly a block in each direction, with the special exception of the Carmel Plaza block and the Village Inn and Torres Inn block, will have their property up-graded. The Lobos Lodge and Normany Inn property will get down-graded or up-graded depending on how you want to look at it.

At the present time our property on 5th and San Carlos is zoned the same as Mayor Putnam's property. He feels that I should have the doubtful honor of having service stations behind me, on the side of me, and in front of me. But I doubt very much that the Mayor would like to have a service station next door to his very fine store. Yet at the same time, my property is at present zoned identical to his. Of course he is only a tenant.

He and the members of the Planning Commission apparently feel that I should have the same honor with plumbing shops. Let me state at this time we now have five bedrooms that look down on a service station and the red lead adornments of gutters and fixtures that decorate the roof of a plumbing shop. Both of these businesses are operated by fine business people and with the exception of their gasoline tanker that runs its motor in the late and early hours when people are sleeping, and with the exception of the stacks of pipes and the other necessary equipment that they need in their business, I have no quarrel with them. They are both perfectly free to stay on and eventually pass their businesses on to successors unless use permits are amortized. These uses were here when we bought the property and we intend to live with them and be good neighbors as we now are. However, we are just one location and for this reason we feel we should alert the other property owners to possible dangers. Neither of these uses are legal at the present time in 80% of the business district. They would become so on use permit under the proposed new zoning ordinance.

In the last few years two plumbing shops have disappeared from our streets. Both were less than beautiful to look at and both have been replaced by artists' studios and are a credit to the neighborhood.

The matter now before the City Council seems to me to have the appearance of "rush-rush." While it is true there has been much discussion about it and the Planning Commission has had hearings and made numerous changes, that now in its final form it should be pondered and studied and each and every property owner should be mailed a complete copy of the proposed zoning changes. The business of charging twenty-five cents a copy is false economy and to say the very least, unfair to the hun-

Not Good Enough For Carmel

Monday night, 8:15 o'clock, the Carmel City Council will hear citizen protests against the planning commission's proposed new zoning ordinance. It is a good enough ordinance—for the average small town which is about to enjoy the protection of zoning for the first time. But Carmel is not the average small town, and it has had a zoning ordinance since 1929, revised in 1940, both representing advanced thinking in zoning for their times.

The ordinance which the planning commission has devised to supplant the 1940 zoning ordinance provides additional but not enough protection for a small core area centered around several blocks of Ocean Avenue; it seriously weakens protections enjoyed for 20 years for the rest of the business district.

It fails to protect Carmel against commercial exploitation of its beauty and character which could not have been foreseen in 1940, exploitation which destroys the thing it feeds on.

When the citizens protested at public hearing before the planning commission of the most glaring weaknesses in the proposed ordinance, a planning commission member said they were serving their own selfish interests and should therefore be ignored. They were ignored. So were city council recommendations in a joint meeting both before and after the planning commission public hearing.

The planning commission was right in their assumption. The citizens were serving their selfish and very human interests in wanting to continue to live in quiet and beauty; the business people were serving their selfish interests in wanting to preserve Carmel's only asset, that beauty, individuality and quiet, which has brought visitors to it throughout the years from all over the world.

Monday night the citizens will have an opportunity again to display their selfish interests before their own elected body, the city council, which it is hoped shares a selfish interest with the citizens in wanting to protect this town from exploitation and devourment.

The citizens are not in a position to smell out and cry out against all the weaknesses, errors and failures in the ordinance. That is for the council to do in committee.

They are not in a position at a public hearing to do more than make general positive suggestions for devices to deter further exploitation; they can only say they want it controlled, and leave it to the council to find means since the planning commission did not do so, nor wish to do so.

But retrogressions are obvious, weakening of protections enjoyed since 1940, and in some cases since 1929. These, citizens should protest specifically and with all their might:

The opening up the door through use permit to gasoline service stations, bus depots, truck yards, plumbing shops, delivery yards. These under the 1940 ordinance are allowed only in the C-2 zone, the business district blocks facing Junipero Street north of Ocean. The service stations and plumbing shops now in existence elsewhere in the business district are "non-conforming uses." They were there before 1940 and were allowed to continue, under the old ordinance, as they will be under the new. The old ordinance prohibited and no more have come in. Under the proposed ordinance the planning commission could grant use permits as they chose to any number of new service stations anywhere in town except in the small Ocean Avenue core. We agree with the 1940 planners. Bus depots, trucking yards, gasoline stations, plumbing shops are noisy and unsightly. We have enough to serve the community as 20 years have proven. If there is need for more they may still go into C-2. If C-2 should become built up to an extent that there was no room left for them, and the public good could be served only by admitting more of them, then the zoning ordinance could be amended to provide for them.

Here are some of the areas of improvement on the old ordinance in which planning commission could have made an advance, and failed to do so.

It failed to solve the problem of further invasion of motels and hotels. In the corporate limits of Carmel there are already 43 motels. The 1000 sq. foot per unit requirement in the proposed ordinance was thought to be a deterrent, but only last week the planning commission approved plans for another motel, which filled requirements for 1000 square feet per unit, all landscaping requirements, and a swimming pool. The space per unit limitation apparently works only in that it penalizes the small entrepreneur and encourages the big companies able to finance massive development. Some other device should be considered.

The planning commission has not sufficiently defined uses permitted in the various districts as they discovered when faced with an application for a dance hall by the Arthur Murray "Studio." Each use should be worked over and defined with a clear conception of what Carmel wants and doesn't want, a job for the council since the planners are out of sympathy with the community.

Because the old ordinance permitted "rest homes" in the business district, we do not look with particular joy on finding 20 bed rest homes will be permitted by the new.

No offstreet parking is required of apartments over stores in the protected Ocean Avenue Core. It is required 100 percent for the rest of the town. This encourages apartments in the core but discourages them in the rest of the business district. This is something to think about. Something to protest about is the fact that the planning commission has set no limit on the number of apartments free from off street parking in one dual purpose building. An entire block of Ocean Avenue could be razed to provide a mammoth department store, or a large arcade of stores, with apartments above.

There is no provision in the ordinance to limit massive retail construction in the core. Admiral Fisher's and Mr. Coulter's letters in this issue offer proposals which may or may not be workable; that is for the council to think about, but some means of control should be found to spare Carmel a Macy's

Mayor Putnam Keeps Tree Tour "For Tradition"

Carmel City Council will continue to hold monthly tours of inspection to view such problems as tree removal requests and driveway variances because "the tour of inspection is one of the last vestiges of Old Carmel, one of our few remaining ties with the past, and a thing that keeps us from acquiring what we hope we'll never have—a rubber-stamp council."

Mayor Frank Putnam made this strong plea for retention of the tours at the council meeting last night. Fellow councilmen agreed, and after discussion, decided, in addition, to continue making on-the-spot decisions rather than reserving that part of the duty for regular council sessions.

Producing an equally heartfelt spate of speech-making, this time by citizens, was another item in last night's agenda, possible relocation of Carmel's truck route "somewhere," no one could agree quite where, except that a lot of residents on or near Carpenter Street thought it should be out of earshot of Carpenter Street.

—Wilma Cook.

IN SUMMARY

When you go before your city council Monday night on behalf of your selfish interest in keeping Carmel selfishly quiet, beautiful and individual, ask them: To extend the interim zoning ordinance to give themselves time to study and revise the most important piece of legislation before a Carmel city council since 1940.

To eliminate from the ordinance the powers the planning commission have given themselves through the use permit device to open up to gas stations, bus depots, truck yards, and plumbing shops the C-1-S district (all of the business district except the Ocean Avenue core and the little C-2.)

To find means of halting further motel and hotel invasion of Carmel without too heavily penalizing the existing motels, especially the small ones.

To find means of preventing massive construction in the Ocean Avenue core (perhaps in the whole business district) to house massive business. Carmel does not want to become just another center for chain outlets. There is a depressing sameness about them. As small business goes down before the chains elsewhere, Carmel will remain individual in proportion to its ability to keep its individual enterprise. This is worth fighting for.

Turpentine Beetles Threaten 12 Pines On Junipero Street

The city council on its monthly tree tour Tuesday afternoon decided everything possible must be done to save 12 turpentine beetle infested pines. The trees are situated on the east side of Junipero Street between Fourth and Fifth Avenues in the right-of-way bordering the city corporation yard. Seven trees in this area have already been lost.

State Forester John Dowdakin extracted beetles from bark and demonstrated how the predators (Continued on Page Eighteen)

Before referring the matter to the street and police commissioners for further study, the council heard Mrs. Delia Paine of Third and Santa Fe, Mrs. Joan Tersoll, of Santa Fe and Second, Bob Martin who owns a lodge at Fourth and Torres, and a Mr. Simmons of Second and Santa Fe complain that the truck route was noisy, a traffic hazard because of its winding course, and a section badly in need of a rigidly enforced speed limit. Mr. Martin said trucks had

Don't Allow More Gas Stations, Says Canadian Alderman

Patrick Burns, news director of Station CKOG in Vancouver, British Columbia, and an alderman on the city council of North Vancouver, was a Carmel visitor this week. With him were Mrs. Burns and her mother, Mrs. Maude Privett from London, England. The Burns were showing Mrs. Privett the Pacific Coast and planned to continue south after leaving here.

Mr. Burns was particularly interested in one Carmel problem at present, the status of gas stations in the proposed new business district zoning. He reports that the City of North Vancouver is being bisected by a new highway. Residents are divided as to whether or not gas stations should be allowed at a main intersection on this road. Planning commission and city council were also divided for a time. Two aldermen were members of the planning commission.

North Vancouver's problem in this respect is, if one gas station is permitted at the crossroads, each corner can be developed similarly.

"Don't let any more gas stations into Carmel," Mr. Burns advised, alarmed by a news story about a proposed C-2 service station here, the first since the 1940 zoning ordinance was passed.

"Keep Carmel the way it is. We'd hate to see it become like any California town," he added.

PADRES ROUT GILROY IN LEAGUE OPENER

A crisp-blocking hard-tackling Carmel High football squad ran its undefeated string to 27 straight last Friday night at Gilroy High's brand new Wheeler Field by clipping the hard-trying Mustangs, 31 to 0, in the league-opener for both teams. The veteran Gilroy team was jolted by the quick-hitting Padre line which dominated the play from the opening whistle. Led by veteran tackles Chris and John Wilkin, the spirited Padres took over game control early in the first period and kept the Mustangs back on their heels for the entire contest. The Padres rolled up a total of 385 yards on the ground and through the air while holding the hosts to a net gain of 22 yards.

Stalwart defensive line play by Greg Hulsey, Frank Preve, Chris and John Wilkin, Paul Rice, Paul Jones, and Mike Quarrie stymied the fast Mustang backs in the running department and an alert secondary of George Pollock, Lee Oleson, Bill Coleman, Dan Moore, and Mike Draper pretty well shackled the Gilroy overhead game.

Top ball carriers for the Padres were Mike Draper, Mayo, Wylie

Bryant, and George Pollock. Pollock, a junior transfer from Monterey's Junipero Memorial High showed good drive as he knifed through the bulky Mustang line for steady gains. Sharp blocking by Scott Forbes, Doyle Clayton, Bob Blair, and Gary Sciutto served to spring the small Padre backs for substantial yardage.

Carmel's junior-varsity dedicated the new Gilroy gridiron and set a good example for the varsity by trimming the Gilroy Ponies, 21 to 7, in Friday's preliminary tussle.

PADRES HOST KING CITY THIS SATURDAY

There will be a full day of football on tap at Carmel High's Bardarson Field this Saturday when the King City lightweight, junior-varsity, and varsity teams come to town for a triple-header with the Padre gridders. The lightweights are slated for a 10:00 o'clock kickoff, the jayvees go on at 12:00 noon, and the varsity fracas should get underway at 2:00. This will be the second outing for Coach Hadley Hicks' lightweights who dropped their opener to the North Salinas lights. Carmel's varsity will also be going to the post for the second time, while Fred Rainer's jayvees will be seeing action for the third time this season.

Carmel's jayvee gang which has whipped North Salinas and Gilroy already this season will face its toughest opponent when it squares off against the determined Ponies. The King City junior-varsity clipped San Lorenzo Valley, 38 to 0, last Friday night and could have doubled the score if Coach Bill Pitcher hadn't unharnessed the horses in the second half.

SAN JOSE CITY COLLEGE AT MPC SATURDAY NIGHT

The football championship of the Coast Junior College Conference will most likely be decided with the first game of the season when George Porter's MPC eleven collides with the San Jose City College Jaguars this Saturday night at the MPC stadium. The Jaguars were the only junior college to whip the Lobos last season and they did it the hard way after being down 18-0 at the half. The Lobos have a good nucleus of veterans on hand who remember the sting of last year's defeat and who are more than anxious to make amends for blowing the 1959 title.

Daily Evening Prayer is now said in the Carmel parish at 5:15 o'clock. Complementing the daily Morning Service at 9:00 o'clock, the brief service consists of readings from the Scripture and psalm, and prayers. This Anglican service directly descends from Jewish daily worship and the medieval monastic system of prayer known as the Canonical Hours. A creation of the English Reformation in 1549, the two daily services make possible the complete reading of the Holy Bible in a year's span. Conducting the daily services are the clergy and layreaders of the local parish.

Gen. Fritzsche

Major General Carl F. Fritzsche, commanding general of Fort Ord, was killed when a military plane crashed Friday afternoon near Orinda. He was flying to the Presidio of San Francisco.

Military services on Tuesday morning honored General Fritzsche. The ceremonies were held in Fort Ord Main Post Chapel. Funeral services at Fort Meyer, Virginia, will precede burial in Arlington National Cemetery.

Mrs. Fritzsche has requested that donations in honor of her husband's memory be sent to the Monterey Peninsula Visiting Nurse Association, 512 Pierce Street, Monterey.

Also killed in the crash was Brigadier General Thomas H. Hayes, deputy commanding general of Fort Ord, and four other military men. Tuesday's services at the fort also honored their memory.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

Wharf Serves Up Guest Star With Garnish Of Nonpareil Players In N. Richard Nash's The Rainmaker

The Rainmaker, a refreshingly uncomplicated play by N. Richard Nash, introduces a new sort of star turn at the Wharf Theatre. For this production, which opened Monday and plays through this Saturday night (plus a Saturday matinee), the Brock-Parker-Carson management has imported the Broadway, TV and movie actor John Kerr.

Mr. Nash's romantic play involves very human dreams and problems, and though its characters are familiar—a spellbinding con-man, a spinster, a pair of brothers, one dour and suspicious, the other naive and larkish—they are brought to life with humor and compassion, and played off with skill.

Young and handsome Mr. Kerr, as his billing leads one to expect, offers a solid and altogether professional performance as the high-talking, dream-spinning wanderer named Starbuck who bursts onto the farm of one H. C. Curry on a withering midsummer day with the promise of bringing rain to the drought-stricken land and, coincidentally, love into the life of the plain and unmarried daughter, Lizzie Curry.

Engaging as he is, Mr. Kerr by no means makes The Rainmaker a one-man show. The Wharf serves up its guest star with a garnish of nonpareil local players, and, at the risk of sounding provincial or chauvinistic, it can be proudly said that the home team performs with at least as much polish and possibly more zest than the visitor to whom, in curtain calls, it modestly defers.

Emancipated for once from tigerish roles, Ruth Warshawsky donates a touchingly funny and feeling performance as Lizzie, conveying the despairing pride and skin-deep bravado of incipient spinsterhood. The scene in which Lizzie is awakened to a sense of her prettiness in Starbuck's eyes is as warm and fine a piece of acting as Miss Warshawsky has achieved.

The rest of the cast is, to a man, excellent. Robert Carson gives a dryly humorous and sensitive characterization as the widowed and worried old man Curry. Charles Burks is fine in the strong and unsympathetic part of the elder son, Noah, so full of what's right that he overlooks what's good. George Gordon's portrayal of the upstanding but heart-blind deputy, File, whom Lizzie loves, would earn top billing in a less star-crossed production, and Paul Colman gives his best Wharf performance to date as the gruff, homespun Sheriff Thomas.

Stealing scenes from such a richly endowed cast amounts to grand larceny, and a young actor named Gene Corniel—known previously to local audiences as Gene Corneli— is guilty as charged.

Resembling an animated cartoon of Kirk Douglas and acting with a cowboy swagger of speech and manner, Corniel's performance as young Jim Curry combines rowdy humor with artful showmanship.

The Rainmaker has some fine lines and scenes, and builds to a wholly satisfying climax, but it takes a while to get off the ground, and Thomas Brock's direction has not managed to eliminate the drag of the opening act. But once the action begins to roll, Brock keeps it moving well and smoothly, and works his fine cast to best advantage. Vernon Soden employs the full extent of the Wharf's stage and apron for a substantial if somewhat cluttered setting, using blackouts and spotlighting to delineate changes of scene. Kit Barton has done an irreproachable job of costuming. Don Van Stry, Peggy Ray, Dave Riley and Flemen Hardy assist in the backstage work.

Art On The Peninsula

Ben Bishop will have a one-man show of 30 oils at the Discovery Gallery, Casa Manana, Monterey, starting on Saturday and continuing through November 1. The show is titled Poetry of Still Life.

Mr. Bishop was born in New York City in 1923. He studied painting, crafts, graphics, drawing, design and sculpture at the High School of Music and Art in New York; painting at the Art Students League; art history at the University of Nebraska; and did graduate work in art and aesthetics at New York University. During a five-year period he taught at Vassar College, the University of Missouri and the Memphis Academy of Art.

His paintings are owned by collectors in San Francisco, Sioux City, Los Angeles and Canada. His work has appeared in one-man shows and group shows in the United States.

A preview of the Ben Bishop show for invited guests will be held tomorrow evening from 8:00-11:00 o'clock in the Discovery Gallery, 260 Calle Principal, Monterey.

Color lecture slides and a talk on Italian Painting of the Gothic and Renaissance periods will be sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts on Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock in Sunset Auditorium. Through a grant to A.F.A., the Jean Tennyson color lecture slides were made available and will be presented to the public without charge.

Charles Thomas will deliver the lecture accompanying the pictures. His talk will be drawn from a text compiled by Dr. H. W. Jamison, art critic and expert on European paintings.

Tuesday's lecture program is the first of four planned by the local A.F.A. chapter. Other programs will be Five Centuries of French Painting, Modern Painting in France, and Masters of Dutch and Flemish Painting.

The A.F.A. organization has been in existence locally for about a year. Mrs. John E. Montague is chairman; Mrs. H. A. Fredericks, vice chairman; Gene Elmore, secretary; Leonard Heller, treasurer; Helen Denecke, corresponding secretary. New members who joined the organization last month are Mrs. Joshua Meador, Philip Meador and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Boise.

Patricia Cunningham and other members are discussing details and forming a committee to revive the Beaux Arts Ball, for many years an annual Peninsula event. Tentative date for the revival is February 1 next year. The party will be held at Del Monte Lodge.

On the A.F.A. winter agenda is a showing of fine paintings, etchings, drawings and sculpture loaned by Peninsula owners in November; a seminar in Sumi brush painting given by famed Oriental artist, T. Mikami, at Monterey Peninsula College in October; a Jean Varda college seminar in November.

Canvas and Couture, annual art exhibition and fashion showing for the benefit of the building fund of St. Dunstan's Episcopal Chapel in Carmel Valley, will be held on October 16 at Rancho Del Monte Country Club. A preview of the art exhibition will be held on October 15. Tickets may be obtained by writing to Box 10, Carmel Valley, or telephoning OL 9-2570 or MA 4-6244.

C. Edward Graves Is Western Editor Of Wildlands News

C. Edward Graves, one of the west's hardest working conservationists, who contributes a monthly column to the Pine Cone, as well as working for conservation projects for the Sierra Club, Lobos League and similar organizations in Oregon and Washington, has taken on additional work to which his retirement has been devoted.

The announcement of his affiliation with National Wildlands News appeared in the October issue of that magazine:

"C. Edward Graves of Carmel, California, has joined the National Wildlands News staff as western editor, taking the former position of J. F. Carithers, who became a member of our Washington staff in July. Thus, again we have a representative in the West to keep us up-to-date on meetings and happenings in the field, and to act as liaison between our eastern editorial office and western subscribers.

Mr. Graves has been interested in the outdoors all his life, and belongs to several of the western organizations in the field of wilderness preservation. He has visited most of the national parks, many of the national monuments and wildlife refuges, as well as the wilderness and primitive areas of the national forests, and he has a large collection of color slides of these areas, with which he frequently lectures.

"In 1953, Mr. Graves was appointed western representative of the National Parks Association, a position he held until he resigned in 1958."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How sickness as well as sin can be overcome through spiritual understanding of God will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday.

Teachings of Christ Jesus are featured in the Bible selections which include his admonition concerning the "corrupt tree (which) bringeth forth evil fruit" Matt. (7:17). The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?"

This correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will follow (343:14): "Jesus strips all disguise from error, when his teachings are fully understood. By parable and argument he explains the impossibility of good producing evil; and he also scientifically demonstrates this fact, proving by what are wrongly called miracles, that sin, sickness, and death are beliefs—illusory errors—which he could and did destroy."

Other committee heads are Mrs. Dudley Swim, garden booth; Mrs. August Johnson, gift booth; Mrs. Luke Shields, food fair; Gerald Taylor and Ellen Merrifield, finance; Jean Roeder, assisted by Maxa Tadlock, Gay Beauchamp, Donna Durein and Jane Skillman, prizes; Pat Rhodes, publicity; Mardi Lloyd, tags, radio and TV; Joan Willcombe, schools; Peggy Newton with song and cheerleaders, newspapers and pictures; Ruth Stevens and Diane Shields, decorations and rooters; Bob Little, parade; Joy Fehring, king and queen contest; Allison Miller, publications; Pam Petersen, fashion show.

Funds raised by last year's carnival provided nine scholarships awarded to graduating seniors in June. These students are now using the scholarships to defray expenses during their freshman year at college.

Five-Club BPWC Observance

The five Business and Professional Women's Clubs on the Monterey Peninsula will observe National Business Women's Week with a joint dinner at the Mission Ranch tomorrow evening. Patricia Lane, Carmel attorney, is chairman for the event. Cocktail hour begins at 6:30 o'clock, dinner at 7:30.

Women in Appointive Public Office is the theme of the meeting. Honored guest and speaker will be Gladys Ann Sheerin of Visalia, past president of the California

Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and state chairman, Women in Appointive Public Office. Workshop participants will be George Tomlinson, chairman, Monterey County Republican Central Committee; Dr. Robert Bowersox, vice chairman, Democratic Central Committee; Mrs. Talcott Bates, member of the State Board of Education, and a Peninsula resident.

Elementary P-TA Meetings

Grade meetings will replace general P-TA meetings in the Carmel elementary schools during October.

Woods School grade meetings will be on Tuesday evening. Rooms will be open at 7:30 o'clock with meetings scheduled for 8:00. A general meeting in the cafeteria will follow the separate meetings in the rooms. Refreshments will be served.

The expansion of River School has made it necessary to have two evenings of grade meetings. Kindergarten through third grade will meet on October 17. Grades four through six will meet on October 24. Meetings will open at 7:30 in the individual rooms for both groups. General discussion in the cafeteria will follow the grade meetings on both evenings. Refreshments will be served.

Sunset School seventh grade meetings will be held on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the rooms with a general meeting afterwards. Sixth grade meetings will be on October 18 at 7:30 o'clock. Eighth grade parents will meet in the cafeteria at 8:00 o'clock on October 19.

Boy For The John Monroes

Michael Douglas Monroe, born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on September 21, is the second child of Mr. and Mrs. John Monroe. He has a sister, Lynn Kathleen, two years old. His birth weight was six pounds, 12 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Kenner of Newport Beach and Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Monroe of Carmel are Michael Douglas' grandparents. His father, a graduate of Carmel High School, returned here to live after attending Stanford University and the University of California and completing Army service. He is associated with his brother, H. William Monroe, in the insurance business.

Jennie Honor Freshman

Sixty freshmen students at Pomona College were granted honors at entrance on September 22 for their high school grade averages of 3.95 or better, out of a possible 4 score. Among them was Jennie Hill, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hill. She was the valedictorian of last June's graduating class at Carmel High School and in her junior year spent a summer in Norway representing Carmel High School abroad in the American Field Service program.

Randolph Cooper Second Son

Mr. and Mrs. William Cooper's second son, Randolph, weighed eight pounds when he was born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on September 19. His brother Larry is 17 months old.

All of Randolph's grandparents came to Carmel to meet him shortly after his birth. They are Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Graham of Santa Clara and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Cooper of Hayward.

Randolph's father brought his family here from San Jose a year ago. He is assistant manager of the Montgomery Ward store in Monterey.

Katie In France

Katie Schleppe, once of Carmel, now of London, sends a postcard from Collioure, France, dated September 20. "Round about inquiries in Perpignan led to my spending three or four days in this rather wonderful fishing village with its backing of ancient citadels, towers and fortified church. For days on end I've heard and spoken nothing but Catalan French, and if Adrian Beach were here he'd do a series of sketches on elderly natives, the men in blue and women in black, with their rope-soled Catalan Espadrilles, their gay spirits and weathered friendly faces. The cobbled narrow paths up the hills and down, to a sparkling blue ocean make it a wholesome and aesthetic change from fog-and-rain bound London."

Kelly Stanley Is A Blonde

Kathleen Kay "Kelly" Stanley, born on September 30, attracted a lot of attention in the Peninsula Community Hospital nursery with her long golden-blond hair, according to her grandmother, Mrs. Adrienne B. Engle.

Kelly weighed seven pounds, 15 ounces at birth. She left the hospital with her mother, Mrs. Anthony Stanley (Kaaren Engle) on Tuesday. They will stay with Mrs. Engle until the middle of the month before returning to Los Angeles where Kelly's father is employed. Also here is Kelly's brother, Peter, 13 months old.

Mrs. Harriet Stanley of Oxnard and Peter Engle (TV actor Peter Whitney) are Kelly's other grandparents.

National Merit Semi-Finalists

Carmel High School Principal Warren Edwards announces that students Mary E. Martin, Sharon L. Predmore, Birrell T. Walsh, James Willcox and Linda L. Young have been named semi-finalists in the 1960-61 National Merit Scholarship competition.

They are among 10,000 high scoring students throughout the United States who took the test last spring. In December they will take the scholastic aptitude test of the College Entrance Board. Results from this examination and high school grades, extra-curricular activities, citizenship and leadership qualities will be evaluated to determine finalists. About May names of finalists will be announced. These students will be awarded four-year scholarships up to $1500 a year if financial need justifies this amount.

Betty Ann Goetz To Marry

The marriage of Betty Ann Goetz and Russell Beckwith Post will take place on October 27 in the Mayflower Church of Pacific Grove. A reception will follow the ceremony. Betty Ann's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jules Ernest Goetz.

Gilberts Trip Ends In Stockton

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Gilbert are back in their Carmel home and have postponed their trip East until spring. They left Carmel last week to drive to New York but car trouble forced them to stop in Stockton. Repairs demanding special parts meant so long a delay that they rented a car and returned home. They had planned to be away until after Thanksgiving.

dreds of business property owners who have paid most of the city taxes over the years.

I feel that they should postpone any decisions at this time and extend the interim ordinance for at least three months so that all the people that will be affected by these changes can be fully alerted to its consequences as well as its merits, of which there are several.

Yours very truly,

October 4, 1960

The Editor, Carmel Pine Cone:

It is highly important that citizens of Carmel attend the public hearing on the new business district zoning ordinance on Monday evening October 10, at 8:15 o'clock.

This proposed ordinance omits certain protections which, in our opinion, are essential to preserve the distinctive character and natural beauty of Carmel.

As to beauty, any community, especially Carmel, has the right to determine that it should be "beautiful, as well as healthful; spacious as well as clean". So ruled the United States Supreme Court on November 22, 1954. Carmel should assume and exercise that right.

There are other rights and powers which are available to any community. Carmel, in particular, should by ordinance, invoke these powers so that they can be used when the need arises.

Carmel has gained renown as a village of charm and character, one aspect of which is the appearance of its business district. For example, most of its business houses are small and distinctive in their design, grouping and decoration. (Which, by the way, has paid off in profits.) No industries are permitted and large business houses are not wanted. So why not set a limit on size? California law specifically authorizes any city to regulate "the bulk . . . and size of buildings . . . the percentage of a lot which may be occupied by a building." (Sec. 65800, Calif. Planning Act.) Here is the power, so why not use it? Without such a limit property owners may legally erect large structures, wholly out of "scale" with Carmel. Why run such a risk?

Also it is our conviction that Carmel has already a disproportionate number of motels. Of the 115 motels on the peninsula, 43 are located within the corporate limits of Carmel. With less than 3% of the land area, Carmel has 37% of all the peninsula motels. We believe that it is in the vital interests of both residents and motel owners that henceforth motels be limited to one to a block, in that part of Carmel where zoning permits them.

Another thing: Carmel's present Zoning Ordinance allows non-conforming uses and buildings to "be continued indefinitely", (Sec. 1312) and does not set a termination date on use permits, thus surrendering its right to control and eventually eliminate undesirable businesses or uses of buildings. Other cities safeguard themselves by setting definite expiration dates on variances, use permits and non-conformances. Woodside does it, also Los Altos and Los Gatos. Arcadia has done it since 1949. Why should Carmel lag behind these other forward looking communities?

These are some of the elements of a city's power to protect itself against ugliness and uninspiring conformity. Carmel should use all powers legally available to it to preserve its individuality, its village-like atmosphere and to retain the beauty of its matchless setting.

If it doesn't—well, just look at some of California's other beach towns. Without active citizen interest and expression, what do you think Carmel would be like ten years from now?

The proposed new zoning ordinance for Carmel's business district will affect in many ways every resident of this community. We urge the attendance of all Carmelites at the first public hearing on Monday evening October 10, at 8:15 at the Carmel City Hall on Monte Verde between Ocean and Seventh.

Carmel Citizens Committee
Very truly,
The Board of Directors,
by C. W. Fisher, president

Editor, the Pine Cone:

The proposed Central District Zoning Ordinance for Carmel contains no specific area restrictions for downtown buildings. I have tried to figure how large a store it would be possible to build without violating the proposed ordinance. As a first step, in a 200 ft. by 400 ft. city block the largest possible ground area for a building under the proposed ordinance as I understand it would be 44,160 sq. ft. after deducting four percent for landscaping.

Such a building would occupy the interior portion of an entire city block, being partly surrounded by smaller building sites, each extending fifty feet in from the street. But the main building itself would be allowed a street frontage of eighty feet on each of the four sides of the block. Thus, while the main building could have only a little more than one quarter of the total street frontage around the four sides of a city block, it could occupy well over one half the area of the block.

For comparison, we may try to estimate the ground area occupied at present by a typical Carmel store. Most people think of the typical Carmel store as being an Ocean Avenue shop. Business lots on the south side of Ocean Avenue are 3,000 sq. ft., and on the north side are 2,500 sq. ft. Let us select a 3,000 sq. ft. lot for our typical store. Although a few Ocean Avenue shops cover more than one lot, more of them cover only part of a lot. Let us consider the typical Carmel store to be a ground-level shop fully occupying a 3,000 sq. ft. lot, and make no allowance for landscaping.

In contrast, for the largest possible two-story building under the proposed ordinance as I understand it, we must use a figure twice the maximum ground area of 44,160 sq. ft. (which figure would be 88,320 sq. ft.). This would be more than twenty-nine times as large as the 3,000 sq. ft. for the typical Carmel store. If a basement is included, the size even of this large store could be increased by as much as one-half.

It is not necessary to make detailed adjustments for space occupied by walls, stair wells, etc., in order to see that under the proposed ordinance, financial considerations aside, it would be legally and structurally possible to build a store more than forty times as large as a typical Carmel store which fully occupies one of the larger business lots on Ocean Avenue.

It must be remembered that Carmel is a prestige location in which some chains of stores will want to locate a store for publicity reasons even though their prospective profits may be small. I think we already have some such shops in Carmel. The question in my mind is this. How soon will an expanding chain of full size department stores find it feasible to locate a store in Carmel. There are about a dozen such chains, not counting Sears, Roebuck and Montgomery Ward. The population of the Peninsula is growing rapidly. We are connected by means of a developing system of fast highways and freeways with a surrounding territory whose population is increasing even more rapidly. Families as far away as Salinas, Watsonville and Gilroy would be happy to drive here to do a few hours shopping in a large department store located among the widely advertised charms of Carmel, and then end up with a picnic dinner on Carmel's world famous beach.

This does not mean that such a huge store is going to be built, or is even likely to be built in Carmel in the near future. But the mere possibility of its being built can be eliminated by inserting into the proposed ordinance a single phrase placing an area limitation upon building size.

Editor the Pine Cone:

I have been approached, by some elderly people (we don't have any old people in Carmel) to see if we can't persuade the powers that be to put one or two benches in the Plaza, not Fenton's, but our old original Plaza, as the elderly ones like to walk thru the Plaza and they would like to rest and relax. The stone seats are not conducive to comfort. Please help these poor souls.

Thank you,

Dear Mr. DeMars:

Did the U.S. Government clear with the Planning Commission the erection of the huge orange fuel tank along the edge of its property just north of Granite Creek on Highway One? I think it is one of the most hideous monstrosities that I have ever seen along any scenic highway. If it must be up there where it effectively shuts out the sky as motorists pass it, can't it at least be painted green

SCHOOL BONDS PASS 3-1

Carmel school bonds passed by a 3-1 vote on Tuesday. A total of 3,038 voters in the Carmel Unified School District went to the polls, or 40.7 percent of those registered. Total vote was: Yes, 2245; No, 756.

The $1,995,000 bond issue will be used to build a 30-room junior high school at the Valley mouth, $1,520,000; and cost of site, $127,000; four-room addition at Carmelo, $103,000.00; three school sites in the upper Valley, $185,000; renovation of the south end of Sunset School for administrative offices, bus maintenance stations at Tularcitos and Carmel High, and addition to a faculty room at River School, total, $60,000.

or some neutral color? Is the Planning Commission powerless in such cases?

Mayor Putnam Keeps Tree Tour "For Tradition"

"run into my building and torn it up five times."

Question of the relocation, sparked by 13 complaining letters and a petition with 56 names, drew the obvious comment from Councilman John Chitwood that "there has to be a truck route and moving it somewhere, anywhere, wouldn't make everyone happy; it would just make a different group of people unhappy."

Councilman Francis Whitaker lead off one of the discussion-making items of the evening by saying that he was grieved to report that the Golden Bough theatre has complied with a council action asking it to provide curb and gutter along its frontage.

The grief caused Councilman Whitaker came in the form of standard, smooth, uniformly marked-off concrete sidewalk which in his opinion is "the very sort of thing we want least in Carmel," supplied by a contractor "with about as much imagination as the engineer who laid out the freeway at the top of the hill."

Mayor Putnam chided Whitaker for putting the council in the position of criticizing a firm who had complied with the letter of the law if not the spirit of Carmel. But the council felt strongly enough about it to suspend the agenda while Councilman Chitwood moved that the committee on lands and improvements be instructed to bring in a report which would lead, it was hoped, to an ordinance setting up standards suitable to the environment.

Meanwhile the street superintendent was to be encouraged to talk over the council's feeling about the matter with all residents contemplating the pouring of new sidewalks.

Helping push the council meeting 45 minutes past its usual tentative deadline of 11:00 o'clock was a request by the Standard Oil Company for a variance to install four 30-foot driveways to serve a proposed new gas station at Junipero and Fourth.

Talk of the variance drew the attention of Admiral C. W. Fisher, in the audience, to the fact that he hadn't heard of the Standard Oil plans to add another service station to downtown Carmel and he took a stand against issuing a building permit for construction of the station.

Councilman Gunnar Norberg echoed the admiral's address to the council. The Standard Oil Company representative who had appeared before the council to ask for the variance and who had remained standing for the long discussion was finally invited to sit down. A compromise variance with slightly smaller driveways was granted by the council to become effective following issuance of a building permit for the station, subject to planning commission approval.

Six Persons Injured In Three Accidents, Boy On Critical List

Stephen Rogers, 16, Carmel High School senior and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rogers, is still in critical condition at the Peninsula Community Hospital following a head-on two-car crash on the Carmel Valley Road Saturday night. Also injured were Charlotte Moore, 15, Carmel Valley, Mrs. Evelyn Pina and her son, Tony, 18, both of Carmel Highlands.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Page R. Hosmer was taken to the hospital with injuries after her car hit the William Askew Memorial at Junipero and Sixth. She was reported in good condition this morning.

Clifford Tinker, Mission Fields, escaped with minor burns yesterday morning when the cement truck he was driving caught fire on the Carmel Valley Road.

Cruikshank To Open Audubon Screen Tour Series October 14

Allan D. Cruikshank, wildlife photographer, will be the first in a series of Audubon Screen Tour speakers to be co-sponsored in Carmel by the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society and the Carmel Unified School District this season.

Mr. Cruikshank will show and interpret his motion picture, River of the Crying Bird, in Sunset Auditorium at 8:00 o'clock Friday, October 14, according to Mrs. Alva Lamont, president of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society.

In Florida a beautiful river flows southward to the sea. Called Wakulla, the Indians' word for "mysterious waters," it is a river of the crying bird—where the limpkin wails a kind of music as basically Dixieland as that of Basin Street. This river of mystery, of wildlife wonders of the limpkin's wail... the Wakulla, filmed in color and is presented by naturalist Allan Cruikshank of Rockledge, Florida.

These Audubon Wildlife Films themselves have been called "at once the most entertaining and most effective means yet devised for bringing the story of nature to the public."

Dr. North To Speak At Sunset Saturday In Open WAF Meeting

Dr. Robert North, professor of political science at Stanford University, will address the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula on the subject of The Dynamics of International Conflict, Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock in the Carmel High School auditorium. The meeting, held in co-sponsorship with the Carmel Adult School, is open to the public without charge.

Dr. North is the first speaker of the 1960-1961 Study Group Series of the World Affairs Council dealing with Tension Spots and Situations. The objective of this series will be to examine both places and situations throughout the world where conflicts are developing, to determine their causes and appraise their probable effects.

As director of Inter-Disciplinary Research at Stanford, Dr. North has studied the processes of international conflicts and integration. He specializes in Soviet relations with Asia, especially China and India and has made numerous trips to South Asia and the Far East. He spent a year in India on a Ford Foundation grant. He has visited the Soviet Union and Soviet Central Asia.

Forthcoming lectures planned by Dr. Thomas N. Barrows, program chairman, include The Explosive Growth of the World's Population by Dr. William Peterson of the University of California on October 22, Dr. Eugene Staley of the Stanford Research Institute will speak on Economic Tensions November 4, West Africa and the Congo will be the subject under discussion November 18 by Dr. William E. Moran also of the Stanford Research Institute.

operate to destroy pines. Without treatment, the beetle infestation could spread to healthy trees in the area, creating an epidemic. The council decided spray treatment should be undertaken immediately.

The pines will be sprayed up to a height of eight feet with a preparation found effective by Hugh Smith, tree expert, and Mr. Dowdakin. As the beetles emerge from the bark they will be destroyed by the spray, thus preventing spread of the infestation.

Also on the tree tour, the council considered the request of Standard Oil Company for 30-foot entrance driveways for a gas station at the northeast corner of Junipero Street and Fourth Avenue. Action on this matter was continued until last night's regular council meeting as no Standard Oil Company representative was present on Tuesday to discuss with council members possible reduction of the driveway widths.
